RDN Community Survey kicks off Local Government Awareness Week

The Regional District of Nanaimo (RDN) is kicking off Local Government Awareness Week with a community survey. RDN residents are invited to share their feedback in several areas including regional priorities and quality of life. The information collected will help guide future planning. Residents can complete the online survey until Friday, June 17, 2022.

“The community survey is an opportunity for residents to let us know how they feel about life in the region and what is important to them,” said Tyler Brown, RDN Chair. “The information collected will provide valuable insights that will help the RDN Board of Directors develop their strategic plan for the next four years following the local government election in October.”

Local Government Awareness Week is an annual initiative to build public awareness of local government roles and encourage participation in local government processes. In recognition of the week which runs until May 21, the RDN invites residents to learn about who and what the RDN is, the services provided to residents and how you can get more involved.

Visit our Get Involved page to see FAQs, videos, and an online form to submit any questions you may have about the RDN. Plus, anyone who completes the community survey by the June 17 deadline has a chance to win a prize! Three winners will be drawn. Winners will have their choice of one of the following prizes: an RDN Recreation and Parks $100 gift certificate; two one-month passes for RDN Transit (valued between $80 - $130); a $100 credit on their next RDN utility bill; or a $100 gift certificate for a local restaurant or business.
